Seaway Section Randolph Lecturers

Invited Lecture in Mathematics Education

1990  Peter Taylor, Queen’s University

    Calculus: Where are We Going?

1991 TBA

At the Spring 1991 meeting, the Executive Committee voted to establish an annual lecture in Mathematics Education each Fall. It will parallel the Gehman Lecture delivered annually at the spring meeting.

1992  William E. Boyce, RPI

    Calculus, Computers, and Change

At the Spring 1993 meeting it was announced that the Invited Lecture in Mathematics Education would be named the John F. Randolph Lecture.

1993  Israel Kleiner, York University

    A History of Mathematics Course for Teachers

1994  Patricia K. Rogers, York University

    Instructional Transformation and Mathematics Education

1995

1996  Eric Muller, Brock University

    The Impact of Research in Mathematics Education on my Teaching and on the Learning of Mathematics in my Classes

1997  Harriet Pollatsek, Mt. Holyoke College

    Math for Poets: Finding Math Lovers Among Humanities Students

1998  Jim Matthews, Siena College

    What Every Student of Mathematics Should Know

1999  Bernard Hodgson, Laval University

    The Mathematician and the Education of Teachers: Some personal Views
2000  Stephen West, SUNY Geneseo
       Mathematics Education: Where Have We Come From? Where are We Going? What’s Taking Us So Long?

2001  Anna Sierpinska, Concordia University
       Theoretical Thinking and High Achievement in Linear Algebra

2002  David Henderson, Cornell University
       Educational Mathematics

2003  Patti Frazer-Lock, St. Lawrence University
       Making Mathematics Meaningful

2004  Eric Robinson, Ithaca College
       High School Mathematics Education: Gaining Perspectives on a Fragmented System

2005  David Poole, Trent University
       Everybody Wins: Why Mathematics Courses for Elementary School Teachers Matter and How They Can Benefit All Students

2006  There was no Randolph Lecture at this Joint Meeting with the Metro Section

2007  David Bressoud, Macalester College
       Calculus in High School

2008  Jack Narayan, SUNY Oswego
       Across 50 Years of Teaching

2009  Sam Vandervelde, St. Lawrence University
       King Solomon on Teaching Math

2010  Kate Fowler, Clarkson University

2011  Tom Pfaff, Ithaca College
       Sustain This! Making Math Matter
2012  Jamar Pickreign, SUNY Fredonia

We Teach Math...to People